Lady Washington's Lamentation

When Columbia's brave sons call'd me here to Lead
To vanquish their foes and establish their freedom
I rejoiced at his honours my fears I dissembled
At the thought of his danger my heart how it trembled
O my Washington? Repeat All was hazardous
2d The contest decided with peace to the nation
My hero retir'd mid the loud acclamation
Of men without numbers, and praise without measure
And my own heart exulted in transports of Pleasure
O my happiness! how precarious
3 Our freedom with ease by faction rejected
A new Constitution our Country erected
My hero was raised to preside o'er the union
And his cares interrupted our blissful communion
O my happiness! how precarious
4th Declining the trust of his Dignified station
With joy to the Seat of his Dear estimation
Surrounded with honours he humbly retreated
Sweet hope softly whispered my bliss was completed
O my happiness how precarious

When the pangs of disease had fatally seiz'd him
My heart would have yielded its life to have eas'd him
And I pray'd the most high for Death he designed him
But he would not permit me to loiter behind him

((my Washington &c All was Dubious
