January 3, 1975

Dear Herb,

I've completed my rough scan of the Off Soundings films, finally, and there are about 18 hours of them, covering all races from 1949 to the present, with only a few blank spots. Attached is copy of my inventory, and this poses a couple of questions:

1. What do the Secretary's records show as regards the years 1951, 1954, 1956 and 1967? Suspect a hurricane or two may have been involved. For instance:

- a. The Fall 1951 pix are of boats leaving a harbor, well reefed, sunken freighter in background, no explanations.
- b. No Fall 1954 pix. (Spring ones badly overexposed.)
- c. No 1956 pix, Spring or Fall.
- d. No Fall 1967 film.

2. Am missing photographer identification, as you can see. In particular, someone took some very good pictures in 1950 and 1958. Also, is "A. Fisher" Agnew by any chance?

3. In the 1970 film, a title refers to "scenes from twnty years ago", but none follow. Do you know what pix Monk selected and where they are?

I have made notes (not shown on the inventory) concerning specific scenes from films that I think would contribute to a good, interesting documentary and would like to ask you and Ed Raymond to look over this list, and based upon your knowledge of events, select films you'd particularly like to review. Then I would temporarily pull all our selections together. After which the three of us could lock ourselves up in our projection room for four or five hours to review the collection.

At this point we could decide how far to go with this project. We have no plans (at the moment) to depart for fairer (or snowier) climes, so I could put on a show almost anytime. After you've mulled this over, give me a ring.

Last, but not least. Do have a Happy, Healthy and Prosperous New Year!

Sincerely,

cc: Ed Raymond
