

New Exhibits at Mystic Seaport

Cruising Club - 1974

CHARLES W. MORGAN - The most obvious change this year is that the MORGAN is not at the location that has been her home for the last thirty-two years. In December she was refloated and in January she was hauled out for caulking and hull repairs. She will be rerigged this spring and exhibited afloat after this. She is interesting to see in the shipyard now and the exhibits in the visitors' gallery of the main shop have been revised and up-dated.

CHUBB WHARF - At the site of the MORGAN dock, a new granite wharf is being constructed. The wharf will be in the traditional design and construction of the stone wharf that were so common in New England in the 19th century. The 150' by 100' structure will act as a permanent berth for the MORGAN which could moor along either side, or the end. This wharf is given in memory of Hendon Chubb by the Chubb family.

MALLORY BUILDINGS - A completely revised exhibit covering the Mallory family involvement in American maritime history will open later this spring. This exhibit will chronicle their achievements in commerce and yachting, as well as their leadership of Mystic Seaport.

BENJ. F. PACKARD - Work continues on this exhibit with the next phase being the installation of the environmental controls to protect the panels followed by the installation of the panels of the main cabin. The introductory exhibit with a model of the completed exhibit is open.
